Expedition Itinerary

Day	Program
1	Arrival to Kathmandu (1,350 m / 4,430 ft) and transfer to hotel
2	Preparation day for expedition in Kathmandu Spend day at leisure in Kathmandu and picking up last few items for trek.
3	Fly to Lukla (2,860 m / 9,317 ft) Trek to Phakding (2,610 m / 8,560 ft) We will make an early morning start for the Twin Otter flight to Lukla (2,840m / 9,317 ft), the gateway to the Khumbu. This is an exciting flight, which should give a glimpse of Everest in the distance. In Lukla, we will set off straightaway for our first night's stop at Phakding. Situated on the banks of the Dudh Kosi, which drains the whole of the Khumbu Region, this small hamlet is on the main trade route through the area and there are a number of clean, well-built lodges where we can spend the night.
4	Trek to Namche Bazaar (3,340 m / 11,155 ft) We will continue up the banks of the Dudh Kosi and we will enter the Khumbu National Park. We will then cross the confluence of the Dudh Kosi and the Bhote Kosi on a high suspension bridge and climb steeply for about two hours up 'Namche Hill' to reach Namche Bazaar (3,400 m/11,155 ft). This is a prosperous trading town and the capital of the Khumbu Region. Many Tibetans cross the nearby border to trade their wares and the local market is a fascinating spectacle. This is a good place to buy genuine Tibetan artefacts. Just across the valley to the east stand the peaks of Thamserku and Kangtega, both very impressive mountains.
5	Acclimatization day in Namche Bazaar We will spend two nights in Namche Bazaar. During this critical acclimatization phase, we will spend time resting and trekking to higher altitudes. This will allow our bodies to become acclimatized to the altitude of (3,450 m / 11,300 ft). On the first morning, we will do an acclimatization walk. The afternoon can be spent sampling the delights of the Namche bakery!
6	Trek to Deboche (3,734 m / 12,250 ft) From Namche, the Everest trail contours around the side of the valley high above the Dudh Kosi. As we follow the path, we will get our first really good views of the great peaks of the Khumbu: Everest, Lhotse, Nuptse and Ama Dablam. Passing by several villages and numerous tea shops, we will cross the Dudh Kosi River and make a steep climb to Tengboche, monastery. We have plenty of time to look around Tengboche (and have a cake at the bakery!), and then a short walk onwards to Deboche for the night.
7	Trek to Dingboche (4,410 m / 14,470 ft)

	Contouring up the valley side, we will re-cross the river and turn up the Imja Valley to reach the picturesque farming village of Dingboche (4,410 m / 14,465 ft).
8	Acclimatization day in Dingboche Dingboche is a good location for acclimatization, prior to our ascent up the upper section of the Khumbu Valley. While in Dingboche, we can attend a seminar about high altitude at the hospital in nearby Pheriche, run by the Himalayan Rescue Association. The walk over to Pheriche and back will also serve as good acclimatization training and so make the walk doubly worthwhile.
9	Trek to Lobuche (4,940 m / 16,210 ft) We make our way up towards the plateau between Pheriche and Dingboche. From here we have a great view of Lobuche straight in front of us and the spectacular north face of Tawache to the left. As we make our way towards Lobuche, we drop down to the small village of Dugla (4,620m / 15,153 ft) for a rest and some lunch. After lunch we make the steep ascent up beside the glacier moraine. If people wish, we can visit the Sherpa and climbing memorials. It is just a couple of hours walk and relatively flat ground to the village for the evening Lobuche.
10	Trek to Everest Base camp (5,345 m / 17,536 ft) The trek to Gorak Shep is short with a lot of small hills and boulder fields to negotiate. From Gorak Shep, we start on a nice flat section below Kala Patthar, before making our way to a small ridge line to the left of the Khumbu glacier. There are spectacular views up the glacier towards base camp. Pumori stands to the left of us while Nuptse is on the right. After spending some time in Base Camp (visiting our Expedition camp, (April/May only), we retrace our steps back to Gorak Shep for the evening
11	Trek to Lobuche Village (4,940 m / 16,210 ft) There is the option to trek up to Kala Patthar at sunset on day 10 for amazing views of Everest, Lhotse, Nuptse and surrounding peaks. The other option for Kala Patthar is to trek to summit today for sunrise. We leave Gorak Shep early and make our way towards Lobuche. Take a nice rest in Lobuche village. This will be our active rest day, were we will do gear checks, rope skills training in preparation for the climb
12	Trek to Lobuche Base camp (5,250 m / 17,224 ft) We leave Lobuche village early and make our way towards Lobuche Base camp. There can be some nice scrambling on the route to Base camp with spectacular views of Ama Dablam and other amazing peaks. Active rest day, gear checks and rope skills training.
13	Summit bid to Lobuche Peak (6,119 m / 20,075 ft) We leave early from our camp and start the scramble up the rocky section. There are boulders that we weave in and out while we move to higher ground. Foot placement needs to be precise as this rocky section can be icy very early in the morning. Once we reach the snow and ice of the glacier, we

	take a rest, put on our crampons, harness, and have Ice-Axe in hand before we make our way across the glacier. There can be some crevasse crossings on the glacier, and we must take great care while travelling across this section. Once across the flat part, we reach the start of the steep snow and ice wall. As we move higher up the southeast ridge towards the summit, the angle increases climb approximately 60-degree icy slope. In places it can be a mix of rock, ice and snow climbing depending on the condition of the mountain. After about 6-8 hours of climbing, we will be standing on the East summit of Lobuche peak. We will be rewarded with great views of Everest Lhotse, Nuptse, Makalu, Cho You, Ama Dablam and many more peaks. We retrace our steps down the ridge, abseil down the steep sections make our way back down to Base camp for some well-deserved rest. If team are feeling strong, we will trek back to Lobuche village or Pheriche.
